

the issue

The current way we identify ourselves online is problematic for a variety of reasons

The minimum required level of ableness to participate in our society is too high

This creates socio-economic issues on several levels in our society, but especially in the poorer populations

Society as it is is discriminatory and inhuman. A lot of the issues could be solved through saner technological defaults

on a granular level

- 1 Regular mail is insecure and untrustworthy
- 2 Digital services don't serve the people in their current form
- 3 We rely too heavily on free email services
- 4 Personal circumstances are not taken into consideration